

REVOLUTIONARY CHANCELLOR KAPP'S AS REVOLOUT SPREADS

SPARTACISTS SEIZE POWER IN MANY GERMAN CITIES

There is a fresh feeling of optimism in Berlin. The crisis of the situation is never absent from the city. A serious view of the situation is taken in the allied capital. A Coblenz dispatch to the Independent states that the Spartacists are in place to seize the power in the Rhine. Bloody fighting has taken place there between the three Rhine divisions for control of Germany. The Spartacists are reported to control there.

Belgium have been proclaimed at Frankfurt, Dresden and Ruhr, according to dispatches to the London Foreign Office. The Spartacists are also reported in control at Berlin and Danzig, while South Germany is a hotbed of communism.

Belgium trouble is looked for, especially in the Ruhr district, where many workers are armed.

The Foreign Office announced that Kapp had demanded recognition of his regime, but Lord Kilmarnock, the British charge d'affaires in Berlin, refused to make any promise on this point and broke off all relations with Kapp.

A state of siege has been proclaimed in Munich.

General Sherburne Would Limit Return to 8 Per Cent. and Permit Seizure

That rents are in many cases being advanced far beyond the legitimate maintenance cost, and that the same should be done in the case of hickory waists and garters, is the contention of General John H. Sherburne.

The general, who is chairman of the State Commission on the Necessity of Life, in a letter to Representative E. R. Abbott, House chairman of the Joint Judiciary Committee, of the Legislature, outlines a bill which would make it a criminal offense to demand rent giving the landlords profit exceeding a per cent. It would also limit the rent to the cost of the article plus a profit of three months.

Miss Coumans, Accused of Causing Death, Makes Notes on Testimony

She was defended by Attorney Frank J. Squire. Miss Coumans said inside the attorney's bar broke her lawyer, and made notes on the testimony.

Mrs. Lott was a patient at the sanatorium under treatment for tuberculosis. According to Attorney Williams, it was the cause of her death.

Reporting the findings at the autopsy, he said that Mrs. Lott's death was due to burns which covered her almost from head to foot. He declared that there was no organic trouble which could have caused death.

Dr. Edward Holmes Wilcox, president of the sanatorium, described the workings of the "hydro-bath," part of Mrs. Lott's treatment, during the trial. He said that the bath was not a "hot" bath, but a "cold" bath, and that the water was not hot, but cold.

TREATED BETTER AFTER "KICKING"

Nick Theodoris of Lowell, a former member of the Headquarters Committee of the 101st Infantry, testified before the Committee on House Rules today, that he had been treated better after "kicking" him out of the hospital for eleven days without medical attention.

The committee is hearing testimony of a score of more patients and former patients of the hospital who charged abuse and neglect. A legislative investigation has been demanded.

Theodoris declared that when he was kicked out of the hospital, he was told that nothing could be done for him. He complained to the officers of the United States Health Service and as a result he was placed back in the hospital and received better care, he said.

Mr. Charles H. Barrer, nicknamed "Snowflake" by address, according to the testimony of Mrs. Carter, loved her husband only as a brother, according to the testimony brought out today in her suit for divorce in Superior court.

Mr. and Mrs. William McDonald of Sacramento street, Cambridge, with Mrs. Carter, were in the courtroom for a time, testified that Mrs. Carter was a devoted wife and mother of affection for her husband.

Mr. McDonald said that he knew of no other woman who had been in contact with his wife, and that he was a salesman had visited Mrs. Carter at her home in Cambridge, Mass.

On one occasion Brown went into Mrs. Carter's room at 515 and had sexual intercourse with her, and testified at 1 o'clock, he said. Early in the morning of the 10th of March, he saw footprints in the snow leading from the window Mrs. Carter had testified to.

When it was Frances Carter, he told her she was not going to the time of his sailing for France, day after day, and they were together nearly every day, all day long, until he died about eight or eighteen months. He said he paid a $10,000 insurance policy payable to her, and he gave her him with a ring and a wrist watch.

Carter said his wife wrote him after he came back from France, "Your loving wife," and that there was no more word up to about the time of the armistice.

After his return Carter said his wife followed him to a divorcee hotel following, permitting her to divorce him.

—The success of the Federal income tax law, the second time around, which brought more than 300,000 returns to this office within the first 10 days of the new year, is due in large measure to the splendid co-operation of the newspapers of this State.

The publicity material furnished by the various big newspapers has been of great assistance in securing a prompt and efficient filing of the returns. The prominent display in the news columns generally assisted for it.

of the Liver

The liver is the regulator of health. If the liver is active and well, good health and happiness prevail; but once you allow your liver to get torpid and sluggish, life becomes a misery. Dyspepsia, Indigestion, Biliousness, Constipation, Headaches and Melancholy are some of the results of a sluggish liver. You, too, suffering from any of these troubles, are suffering from a torpid liver. You are suffering from a lack of energy, loss of memory and a general feeling of depression. ROOF FALLS IN; MANY ESCAPE

New Bedford Building, Weakened by Snow and Water, Partially Collapses

New Bedford, March 17.—Several occupants of the building and a number of pedestrians on the street had narrow escapes at noon today when the roof of the Chapman Building, a three-story structure, on Atlantic avenue, collapsed. Although there were a number of persons in the building, and a Chinese restaurant on the second floor, no one was injured.

The collapse is believed to have been caused by snow which settled on the roof, and by water which had seeped through the mortar joints of the bricks until they were weakened. When the roof collapsed, it fell through the second floor, and the third floor was out for 100 feet. The building was erected about forty years ago. It is of brick and stone construction and is owned by the Harry Chapman estate.

Police to Distribute Poll Tax Bills

Distribution of poll tax bills by the police, which last year aroused a storm of disapproval, will be undertaken by them again this year, Mayor Peabody announced today.

Investigation over being assigned to this task was said to have been one of the causes behind the organization of the women's union.

Commissioner Curtis in a letter to the Mayor said it is only reasonable that the policemen should do the work as they are paid out of the city treasury and have received substantial increases in salary.

Mayor Peabody recently stated that if the bill was not paid two weeks after delivery, punishable by a $50 fine or a warrant to compel the payment or arrest the delinquent.

MOTOR TRUCKS

AUTO SHOW CROWDS BREAK ATTENDANCE RECORDS

By C. F. DONNOCKER.

The third day of the Auto Show closed with many sales records established. The attendance proved a record breaker and was larger by far than on any previous day.

There are so many interesting exhibits that motor car enthusiasts will do well to go as early as possible in the day, especially before the evening crowds arrive, in order that they may have a good opportunity to have the various new features explained to them.

When it is remembered that most of the factories were on a 100 per cent war basis a little over a year ago, it is really remarkable that production is back as far towards normal as it is. The market for automobiles has grown appreciably during the past two years.

Many manufacturers are doubting their output and the problem today is not a question of sales, but of probability of delivery.

Notwithstanding this fact, buyers will do well to get their orders early, as when deliveries start after the frosty situation has been straightened out, they will be made in regular routine, "first come first served," and the procrastinator will be the loser.

The accessory exhibitors report an unusual demand for new ideas in this line and if the interest shown at the exhibit is any criterion, this spring will see one of the busiest seasons ever experienced in this territory.

The truck situation is practically the same as the passenger car, trucks are in demand and it is a case of delivery as soon as possible.

The opinion of many of the prominent dealers is that this show will set a record for retail sales in both passenger cars and trucks.

Premiers Popular Exhibit at Show

One of the most attractive exhibits at the Auto Show is that of the Premier at Booth 159, Dept. "B". The car with the magnet gear shift, with the control on the dashboard, under the spark and gas levers, is proving its popularity by the numerous individuals who call at the exhibit each day to see just how this gear shift works.

The body lines on both the closed and open models are up to the minute and the general appearance of the cars most attractive.

J. Reynolds Pierpont, president of the E. L. P. Motor Company, of Fall-Edin, the home office of the Wolle Motor Company, of 26-312 Commonwealth avenue, Premier distributor, is at the "Copley-Plaza" during the show.

Work on the new home of the Wolle Motor Company is progressing rapidly at Nos. 342-344 Commonwealth avenue and will be ready for occupancy about June 1. The new building will provide adequate space for properly conducting a service station which will be operated in connection with showroom under the same roof.

HEAVY DEMAND FOR CADILLACS

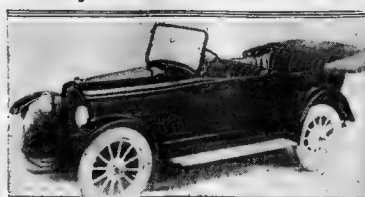

Prospective Buyers Urged to Place Order Early to Avoid Disappointment

"It has been a matter of regret to us that many a person who wanted to buy a Cadillac motor car was disappointed, because there were not enough to go around," says Mr. M. T. Tinsford, president of the Cadillac Automobile Company of Boston.

Neither the Cadillac nor its distributors want to be placed in the position of disappointing a person who was unable to provide themselves with our cars last year. It may be remembered that the Cadillac company announced that it would resume normal production of motor cars as rapidly as possible as soon as the war situation would permit. At the same time, we were not sure that we could not be possible to build in 1919 all the Cadillac cars the world would want.

"That prediction was well-founded, as many people can testify. During the last month of 1919 our distributors were compelled to decline many orders for our cars, simply because the forward buyers had already placed orders sufficient to absorb the year's production."

"It appears now to be practically certain that the same conditions will obtain this year. Undoubtedly the Cadillac's record has increased the public's appreciation of the car, which means that the Cadillac market is much wider than in 1919—and even before the war it never was fully supplied. It is no more than to present the facts as they are."

SHOW 3 KELLY TRUCK TYPES

Ohio Plant of Company Will Soon Turn Out a Machine Every 20 Minutes

One of the interesting exhibits at the Automobile Show this week, is that of the Kelly-Springfield Motor Truck Company, spaces 225, 226, 227 and 312, at Mechanics Building.

This company enjoys the record of being one of the two oldest truck manufacturers in the United States, this year representing the fifteenth year of successful manufacture. The exhibit includes one of the company's standard five-ton chain-drive motor trucks, equipped with the Kinney road roller and distributor, which is manufactured by the Kinney Manufacturing Company, at Jamaica Plain. Also a 2½-ton worm drive motor truck equipped with pneumatic tires, and a 1½-ton worm drive, and an overhauled drive motor truck, which are the latest creations of the Kelly Company.

The Kelly line has been represented in Boston during the past eleven years, of which the last nine years has been a direct factory branch. E. S. Aultman, the manager of the branch, has been in charge of the Kelly affairs since the organization of the branch, in 1911. The branch is now located at No. 591 Commonwealth avenue.

The company has been the manufacturer of high-grade trucks during the past fourteen years, and this year has laid out production plans much larger than any of its previous years. The factory, at Springfield, Ohio, is now being enlarged by the addition of complete new factory unit, new administration building, together with an addition of approximately $500,000 worth of new machinery. As soon as these factory units are completed, the factory will be able to turn out a complete truck every twenty minutes.

During the past three years the company produced many motor trucks for the government, having turned their factory over to the government.

BIO BRISCOE MEETING AT THE COPLEY SQUARE

Wm. F. Aldrich, treasurer of New England Velie Company, is pleased with the outlook looking by the smile which he carried throughout the "Briscoe dealers' convention" at the Copley Square Hotel, which began at 10 o'clock yesterday and ended with a buffet luncheon.

James H. Findlater, vice-president; Walter Woodward, advertising manager, and Julia Haltenberger, chief engineer of the Briscoe Motor Corporation, were present and gave instructive addresses on the several phases of Briscoe policy and development.

EDISON PREDICTED BIO FUTURE OF AUTOMOBILES

The Chevrolet Review says, "Thomas A. Edison, the electrical wizard, was the first well-known American to prophesy that the automobile would revolutionize transportation. Nearly twenty-five years ago, he is quoted in the New York World. 'The horseless vehicle is the complete revolution of the world from now we will be able to buy a horseless vehicle for what you would have to pay today for a wagon and a pair of horses. The money spent in the upkeep of the horse will be saved. A great invention, which fulfills a common, ancient, desire of a country just as much as a discovery of gold.'"

Thus the miracle of 1915 automobile developments, it must be a source of great satisfaction to know his prediction was conservative rather than radical."

MADE 30,000,000 SPARK PLUGS DURING 1919

The Champion Spark Plug Company of Toledo, O., offers a good example of the quantity-quality system of manufacturing. With a record production of 80,000,000 spark plugs for 1919, this concern has the distinction of being the largest in the world in its particular field. It is said to produce 60 per cent of the spark plugs made in the United States and 50 per cent of the spark plugs made in the world. The original spark plug of less than 1,000 sq. in. has been increased to over 2,000 sq. in. The working force of forty men has grown to more than 1,400 employees. A large portion of the company's output is purchased by automobile manufacturers.

JACKSON TRUCK IS EASY ON DRIVER

A variety of detail in the design of the Jackson three and four-wheel drive truck make the driver's job easy and comfortable. He has leather "steering" and an enclosed cab. He is not cramped in or over the engine and guide his vehicle, instead he is allowed to lean back at the case and guide the machine with little effort, with a steering column that stands at last the right angle. The newly designed Jackson steering device enables him to steer this big heavy truck as easily as he might a light passenger car. The Jackson is a four-wheel drive truck, with a push and a pull in all four wheels.

ALLEN FINISHED IN DETAILS

John L. Judd, Local Dealer, Points to Many Accessories on This Make

"Many remember the days when automobiles were sold as an 'extra', when it cost the buyer close to twenty per cent of the purchase price of the car to provide the rather modest accessories needed for ordinary car driving. Those who look back to the auto show eight or ten years ago recall this condition."

This statement was made by John L. Judd, of the John L. Judd Co., Inc., local Allen dealer exhibiting at the show, while checking over with another exhibitor, the completeness of present day cars.

"Even on a popular-priced car like the Allen," said Mr. Judd, "there is nothing extra to buy except an extra tire, which most people will order either at the time of purchase or soon afterward."

"This year we are even adding the Boyce motor-mower, a device at first used only on the rather high-priced cars. There are many items like plate glass top windows instead of roll-up, door curtains opening with the door, and a variety of other things which go to make today's car a bigger buy from a dealer and cents standpoint."

C. F. DONNOCKER Automobile Editor

NASH DEALERS ADD 10 TRUCKS GIVE DINNER TO HUB MAILS

100 New England Agents Attend Copley-Plaza Hotel Affair

The annual dinner of the Nash dealers, held at the Copley-Plaza Hotel, was given in more than one hundred of the Nash dealers, at the Copley-Plaza Hotel.

"The (Horseless) impressed upon him the necessity of building good will, at this time, so that they would receive the benefits from it. It was a real triumph, since from a long time back in a 'long market' it was a struggle to get business for the future."

"The Nash dealers, by rendering the best service in their respective cities, it is the policy of the Nash Motor Company to treat its distributors fairly and to give to it the best of all their business relations and to give to it the best of all their business relations and to give to it the best of all their business relations."

Already Commerce trucks are in operation in sixty-two cities throughout the United States and in rural motor express mail service in Pennsylvania, Maryland, Virginia and Utah.

These Commerce trucks, with pneumatic cord tires, have proved their efficiency where ever placed in use by the postal authorities in increasing mail delivery and pick-up as well as cutting down on postal delays. The John L. Judd Company, Inc., New England distributor for Commerce motor trucks, is making arrangements to cooperate with the Boston postal authorities as soon as the trucks arrive.

MITCHELL BODY LINES PLEASE

Designers Followed Lead of Mother Nature; Radiator Is Sloped Back

An important new feature in body lines noted at the show this year is the Mitchell Motors Company's conception of what body lines should be. The Mitchell body is designed to express the very spirit of the automobile and to harmonize the mechanism of the chassis with the lines of the body.

The very essence of motor car travel is its speed and smoothness. The flat, snubly nose of a radiator poking its way into the wind at the head of a rapidly-moving motor car represents the antithesis of speed.

Old mother Nature is a wonderful designer and whenever she designs anything to move fast through the air she gives it a sloping front. Note, for instance, the tapering bill and head of the blue-winged teal which flies at great speed.

The old designers who tried to express ideas in their designs copied Nature in their fast-moving vehicles and as a result shaped their boats with tapering bows and sloping masts. Indeed, the sloping masts and funnels of a smart yacht give us the best idea of the interpretation of smooth, rapid going in the lines of the vehicle.

The Mitchell Motors Company followed the lead of Mother Nature and the old master designers and have sloped back the radiator of the new model. The sloping lines are further emphasized by two series of narrow sloping louvers in the hood. The back of the hood, the line of the cowl, the wind shield and all the door lines also are raked back to heighten the effect of grace and smooth speed.

While leg room is unusually generous and seats fully as wide as normal, the body has a slim, keen appearance seldom seen except in expensive custom built bodies carefully designed to give this effect.

It should not be understood from this that the cars are extreme in appearance or follow the harkened lines of the current "sport model." The innovations are so natural in their conception and so well worked out that they strike the observer as just the right thing.

It is easy to see why our belief that the Hupmobile is the best car of its class in the world, is so widely shared by others. For example, The Comfort Car is held at a consistently lower depreciation, and a higher cash value, in any market. The fact is that these are sound values. They go right back to long life, noteworthy economy, satisfactory service, and conspicuous performance—the sound and substantial foundation stones on which the good name of the Hupmobile has been built.

Find 60-Mile Line of Gold in Australia

London, March 17.—In Western Australia on the verge of a gold-mining boom.

There have been so many wild-cat schemes in the past that people are chary of crediting stories of new finds.

The Hon. J. D. Connolly, Agent-General for Western Australia, has received information from his government that the recent find is a direct line from Kalgoorlie cover a distance of about sixty miles, a stretch of gold-bearing formation longer than anything of the kind hitherto realized in Australia.

Where—but in America?

A one-act playlet, by Oscar Reisch, is a remarkably entertaining bit of family drama. Just the sort of reading that the average man or woman wishes for the Sunday at home. Remember the name of the feature, and that it is to appear in next Sunday's Boston Sunday Advertiser.

The RISE of MAXWELL

SIX years ago the Maxwell Motor Company was only an idea. Now it is doing a volume of about $100,000,000 per year.

Noted minds and notable methods have accelerated its success; but its rise, like the story of any big business growth, lies in the product it makes.

Money will not buy a better crankshaft for its purpose than the one you find in a Maxwell engine.

Nor will money buy better gears, better bearings, a better frame or better axles for the purposes intended.

Picture in your mind the terrific use they get. The combined mileage of 300,000 Maxwells per year is close to 1,500,000,000. This denotes the great test that the Maxwell undergoes each year.

How well it survives this great test, figures speak plainer than words—300,000 in 6 years have been built; 100,000 for the current year.

The rise of Maxwell, therefore, has been as certain as the rising of the sun.

The Maxwell you see at the Automobile Show is not only a better looking Maxwell, but a better Maxwell. It is a Post-War car. It has many improvements.

It is good enough to appreciate quality in a motor truck when a man buys a truck for his business.

Utilitor Looks and Works Like Cootie

MISS OLIVE BEAULIEU AND THE UTILITOR.

In reading the name "Utilitor" on a small tractor shown in the basement exhibit at the auto show yesterday, an overseas boy, examining the machine "little" and almost in the same breath he "piped."

The little Utilitor

Looks like a Cootie. This more or less special rhapsody was overheard by A. H. Douce, general manager of the Campbell Motors Corporation, New England distributor for the Utilitor. The reader led is completely right in sizing up the Utilitor's appearance," he said. "It is indeed the cutie of the tractor world as far as its size goes, and it is just as lively as a cat in its particular take—will the car there you know just how efficient that was."

The Utilitor has been given nicknames everywhere, like "Field Pilot," "Harrowing Henry," "Lance of the Goodies," "Pat," the "You-tell-it-tractor," and scores of other names. The Midway Engine Company at Indianapolis is in the midst of compiling a book of Utilitor stories, according to Tom B. Smith, general sales manager, who is at the show.

We notice that the more the Utilitor is nicknamed the better it is known and the more popular it becomes," said Mr. Smith. "Within a comparatively short time the Utilitor will be recognized as a field necessity, just as much as the diver is a highway necessity."

GARFORD POLICY TO AID OWNERS

New Engineering Department Will Study Operation of Firm's Trucks

In keeping with its policy to render the most efficient service possible to its present and prospective owners of motor trucks, the Garford Motor Truck Company of Lima, Ohio, has established a new department, the duties of which will be to gather authoritative information on the operation of motor trucks and to aid present owners to obtain the lowest cost per ton mile.

This newly instituted department is known as the transportation engineering department.

It is in charge of a transportation engineer who has long experience with motor trucks and with hauling problems makes him particularly capable for the work.

Several days will be spent with the drivers of these trucks to procure definite records of mileage and gas consumption. Much study will be given to the kinds and quantities of loads hauled, the distribution area, the grades and the conditions of highways, the climate, conditions of the frequency of stops, the speed which may be maintained in conformance with conditions and state and town laws, in fact every item which has any bearing upon truck operating and maintenance.

From these investigations will be obtained authentic information on costs that will determine the cost per ton-mile and other vital matters.

NEED EXPERTS TO BUILD ROADS

Must Be Engineers of Vast Experience, Asserts W. H. Gleason

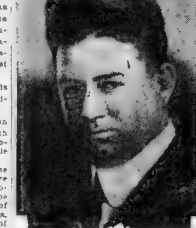

Utterback-Gleason Company, Detroit, Mich.

In the face of all statistics good road building has continued to progress with increased bounds that would seem to indicate a bright future. The past year has witnessed the rise of many highway construction departments in the nation and many Western states that for country forward in such a degree as to require the aid of experts in the construction of roads.

It is not that our roads were built to the same standard as those of the past. Our roads today were not built to the same standard as those of the past. Our roads today were not built to the same standard as those of the past.

There is no secret about building roads that can withstand heavy traffic. But what is needed most in the construction of roads is the highest quality of engineering and the highest quality of materials.

The road work of the future will be handled wisely.

NEW MITCHELL IS SENSATION

Novelty of Sloping Radiator and Body Lines Draw Exhibition Crowds

The new Mitchell open and closed models, especially the former, are creating a veritable sensation at the show by the novelty of their sloping radiator and body lines. The constant car has been the subject of much comment and the designs worked out in the Mitchell car are a popular appeal and will probably have a profound effect on body design in general. "That we are gratified at the way the public is taking to our departure from standard body lines, is to put the case mildly," John Mitchell, general sales manager says. "We thought to interest the public in these new bodies. It took two years of our constant effort to develop them and it is gratifying to know that they have met with public approval."

There is a strong feeling which prevails in the market of the new Mitchell cars. And that is that their sloping comments are not only in the body lines alone, but include the fine workmanship seen in the finish and upholstery of these cars. "We realized that in a car of this type, the body lines alone like this, and there seems to be no question now that their verdict will be favorable."

Quality Goes Clear Through

It is intensely interesting to observe the close similarity in the performance of Dort cars in every section of the country.

There is a very striking and significant sameness to all reports that come to us from owners.

Such a situation is possible only when the cars themselves are designed and built with unvarying adherence to set and certain manufacturing practices.

It can be regarded as undeniable evidence of the thorough care and exact skill which surrounds every process in the production of a Dort.

And it assures every Dort owner equally excellent and thrifty performance, apart from the slight differences that must be credited to the care the car receives or the conditions under which it operates.

WOMAN PUTS 22 TO FLIGHT: 12 IN HOSPITAL
Philadelphia, March 17.—A lone woman, fighting for the installment plan furniture against which a writ of replevin had been issued, sent two deputy sheriffs to the hospital home and chased out of her house twenty policemen who sought to help the deputies.

Not only did Mrs. Ellen Gallagher use her fists and feet, she also refused to play with a poker, a monkey wrench, scalding water and a bottle of turpentine.

First Federal Truck

The first Federal motor truck manufactured is being shown this in the Federal motor truck space at the Motor Truck Show. It was sold by C. E. As this was the scene of the first Popcorn sale ever made it is exceedingly fitting that this old motor truck should be exhibited beside the latest Federal one-ton.

"Next after economy in operation comes design from the standpoint of cargo and accessibility. Bitter personal experience has taught too many motor car owners that the expense necessary in making some adjustments on a poorly designed car is too great to wait let them get a new model without keeping the mechanical and living conditions as well in mind. Design from the purely mechanical standpoint of material, power and strength, are covered in the demand for service and stamina.

"Finally, the saving of space, time, comfort and convenience. He is not satisfied with the car unless he has unless this last requirement is fulfilled perfectly.

"The automobile necessary to perfect motorizing, ample body room, comfortable seating, and attractive design, are the essential labor and trouble saving devices."

SUBORDINATES GIVEN RATING AS OFFICIALS

Washington, March 17.—Subordinate officials of railroads differ widely in degree from their superiors and properly cannot be called "merit men." This contention of the organized railroad union men, leaders of the Interstate Commerce Commission today, was supported by the "meritocrats official" having a voice in the labor group on the National Labor Board. Some 100 members of this class seek representation on the new tribunal.

THIS day the anniversary of the execution of Boston, in 1776, by the British after the unexpected repulse at the Battle of Bunker Hill. Their withdrawal was a big aid to the Patriots, as showing their ability to meet the Redcoats on equal terms.

THE YOUNG DIANA

Story of Extraordinary Mystery, in Which the Heroine Holds Key to Youth and Beauty

By MARIE CORELLI

What Has Gone Before

Diana May, daughter of well-to-do commonplace parents, had her love affair when the story opens with an officer's "expectations." After waiting seven years, the "expectations" were realized and the loved one promptly threw her over for a fairer and younger partner. Diana May, after her life in wonderland. She had read books on psychology, natural and physical laws and on evolution and the selection of the species, but she was unable to determine why she came in or how she was to get out. The May family retired to Ross Lane, an estate on the coast of Devon, where Diana delighted in reading and writing. She received a letter from Emily Lawrence, including a strange advertisement. She overheard her parents discussing her age and declaring that she is in the way. She forms a plan to leave home and begin to live on her own.

CHAPTER IV

WHEN morning came it brought with it intense heat and an almost overpowering glare of sunshine, and Mr. James Polydora, May, stimulated by the warm atmosphere, went down to breakfast in a suit of white flannel. Why, he said? A sportive and youthful spirit had entered into him with his yesterday's experience. He was not the "old-fashioned-as-you-please" with a family step, he felt that there was, and could be, no objection to the wearing of white, as far as he was concerned.

But he had not seen the "old-fashioned" as his daughter, "only very young people" white? Ah, yes, his daughter, as a woman, was too old for it. . . . but how, if the latest advertising slogan is correct, namely, that a man is only as old as his arteries, then, James Polydora May, was convinced that actually speaking, he was a mere boy! True, his name was a little "gone" from its original freshness, but in the matter of golf and general "brilliance" would soon put him on a par with the "brilliant-as-you-please" young thing might not altogether justify his attempts. Whistling like the charming tune of "Daisy Bell" all those endearing young charms, he contemplated with satisfaction. He was first in the field that morning, and his better half had not been at the first lesson before him, selecting all the best bits as was her usual custom. He sat down to that comfortable chair, mistaking the unobtrusive hand which generally placed his morning needs, he called to the parlor maid: "Where's Miss Diana?"

"Oh, yes, sir, she was up very early—about six, she called and she went down to the bath, as she told the kitchen-maid."

"Not back yet?"

"No, sir."

Mr. May pulled out his watch and glanced at it. It was half-past nine. At that moment his wife entered the room.

"Oh, you're out of bed at last!" he said. "Well, you can go out on my tea and mind you don't fill the cup too full. Diana hasn't got back from her bath."

"Where's Miss Diana?" he asked.

"Oh, yes, sir, she was up very early—about six, she called and she went down to the bath, as she told the kitchen-maid."

"Not back yet?"

"No, sir."

Little Girl Who Kept on Playing

Mr. May, biting a hard bit of toast noisily. "And so she'll come back, and wonder what all the fuss is about. As if a woman of her age couldn't go for a walk and a walk should be expected after as if she were a two-year-old! Are you going to have your breakfast, Margaret—or do you prefer to read your letters first?"

His wife made no reply. She was watching the building of the egg in a small, specially constructed vessel for the purpose, which Diana had added to her list of duties at the breakfast table. She was annoyed that Diana herself was not there to attend to it. Grace still lingered in the room. Mrs. May languidly raising her hand to her forehead.

"You can go, Grace."

"Yes, m. Shall I just run out to the shop and see if Miss Diana is back?"

"Yes, and tell her to make haste back—I want her to do some shopping in the village for me."

Grace left the room, closing the door behind her. At the door the mantelpiece gave several little sharp tings-tings.

"What time is that?" asked Mrs. May.

"Ten o'clock," replied her husband, unfolding the paper's newspaper and beginning to read.

"Doesn't show very extraordinary of Diana to be out from six in the morning till now!" And with that, he said to the maid, "Bring me a glass of milk."

"Mrs. May rang a small hand-bell at the door, and in a moment a maid came in, carrying a tray with a glass of milk and a small, fat, curly smile."

"Well, you may be pretty certain no one has run away with her," said Mr. May, ironically. "She's safe enough. The dear child has not slipped!"

May ignored both his words and manner. She looked at the silver tray and permitted her smile to smile—a small, fat, curly smile.

"Those white flannels have got red on them for you, haven't they?" he flushed indignantly.

"Right! Certainly so! Do they look tight?"

Venus's Morning Glory.

THIS little Venus, which shares with Mars the suspicion of disturbing Marconi's wireless stations with mysterious signals, may be seen by early risers glowing in the east on a morning twilight a couple of hours ahead of the sun. She is in conjunction with the moon today, and will be close to old Father Transit the day after tomorrow.

Oh, little gods of the Fiction Writers. Hear now the prayer of a "Genie Reader!"

Send me, Oh, send me, I pray thee, just one novel, With a REAL WOMAN for a heroine— Not a trivial, preaching little Pollyanna, eternally chattering platitudes.

Not a swarming, mannish Sylvia Scarlett, with the vocabulary of a doughboy driving a male, and the manners of a barnyard.

Nor a soulless egotist like Linda Condon, nor a dried prune like Mary Oliver!

Not a hard-hearted little worldling, with one virtue, one blood curdle, and a determination to "live her own life," even though she may wreck everybody else's!

Nor a scintillating puppet, who cannot open her lips, without spluttering epigrams for three pages at a stretch!

But a normal, human, lively woman, a woman—modern to the finger tips, filled with a new delight in work, and a reverence for her own ideals.

Yet still fragrant with old-lavender thoughts, and sweet with foolish little feminine impulses.

A real woman—modern, with the zesty energy of an army tank, and an encyclopedia for a soul!

Leon had left his violin under lock and key in his Berlin quarters; for the first time since he was no he was experiencing the sensation of delightful idleness. Two weeks slipped away and Zerkow sent a telegram. "We've been waiting for a fortnight," she said positively. "And now it's work again."

Leon said goodbye to her at the door of the Pension after a lecture playfully delivered on the claims of art; Gita had felt the influence of the first day and took this way to steel herself against an onslaught on her life work.

When a Girl Marries

By Ann Lisle

SHE smiled listlessly, frowning her blue eyes on him with an expression that puzzled him. I wondered if she were feverish, or if there really was passion and hate and an ugly desire for revenge in the air.

"You're a very jealous woman, aren't you, Anne?" Evey went on brushing aside my attempts to say a few words of sympathy.

"I'm not a jealous woman," she said, "but you were afraid that Jimmie's old fondness for me would make me jealous of him."

Their Medicine Chest For 20 Years

IT is characteristic of those folks after they pass the allotted "three score years and ten," to look over the life they have lived and thoughtfully live them over.

I find myself, at seventy-one, frequently drifting back a quarter of a century, when I was making my money in the drug store I owned at Bolinas, Mo., making and selling vegetable compounds. I was then known only as Dr. Lewis' Medicine for Stomach, Liver and Bowels.

My first formula I was perfecting was laxative and cathartic on the markets and I was surprised to find that it was not that they did not act on the bowels, but that their action was too violent and they were apt to get sick from it, which was due to the fact that they were not thorough enough in their action, some taking only one or two doses at a time, while others would act only on the lower or large intestines, and that they were not thorough enough in their quelling augmented doses.
